itelligence begins SYSTEMS 2008 in Munich by slashing prices

Full-service IT provider itelligence offers SAP All-in-One CRM package for fixed price of EUR 34,850

Bielefeld (Germany) – October 13, 2008. With its it.compact CRM solution, itelligence AG is the first German SAP consulting house to offer a complete SAP All-in-One solution with SAP CRM 2007 at the complete price of EUR 34,850. This price includes the CRM software solution, consulting and implementation. It can be seen for the first time at SYSTEMS 2008 in Munich in hall A1 at stands 219 and 207.25.

The top features of this recent SYSTEM development include a clearly calculable price and an inbuilt implementation turbo based on the fixed scope of content of solutions. This provides the SME customer with a solution which can be rapidly implemented, is simple to use and which can be comprehensively extended according to future requirement. For marketing there is campaign management, lead management and interaction center marketing. For sales, the program includes account and contact management, activities management, opportunity management, pipeline/performance management and the interaction center sales. For the ever more important service area, a service interaction center as well as complaints and returns processing are included and analysis tools with reporting and interactive reporting are also available.

Alexander Jung, Head of Special Expertise Consulting CRM said: "We have created a unique package. Companies get a fixed price solution, which we accompany with our polished project management. Users will welcome the resulting low training expenses. Customers get a complete solution description, process overview, user and configuration and installation documentation on the basis of SAP Best Practices for CRM V1.2007, naturally integrated into the SAP ERP 6.0 process. An existing SAP system can be quickly, easily and cheaply extended with a powerful CRM process using our solution.
